

Data-driven insight to help businesses manage assets more efficiently

The technology and equipment your employees use every day is critical to your business. Effectively managing these assets across your organization can be difficult, especially when they are physically located in different areas, assigned to separate divisions or billed to various cost centers. Circadia can help!

YOUR EQUIPMENT METRICS ARE AVAILABLE IN ONE PLACE.

Circadia offers insight into asset-level details such as equipment type, location, cost, rent, and lease expiration to help you manage the lifecycle of each asset. Whether you manually track your equipment, or use other tools, Circadia easily integrates into your current asset management practices and delivers value as soon as you begin using it.

YOU HAVE CONTROL OVER YOUR DATA.

Circadia provides you with the freedom to manage who can see your data and how you want to view information.

- Add users and designate access privileges based on the assigned role
- Tailor data fields and reports for specific requirements
- Limit visibility to certain information, including imported data on assets you own or lease through another provider

YOU HAVE A TEAM COMMITTED TO YOUR SUCCESS.

Our Customer Experience team is available to answer questions, offer best practices, provide training, and more. From onboarding assistance to user support, we help you efficiently manage your asset data so you can realize the full potential of your investments.
